

TRANSMITTING UTILITY

TRANSMITTING UTILITY is defined as:

A transmitting utility agent, utilized for the purpose of transmitting commercial activity for the benefit of the Grantor / Secured Party, an exclusive agent, with universal agency, a public agent, serving as a conduit for the transmission of goods and services in Commercial Activity, a thing to interact, contract, and exchange goods, services, obligations, and liabilities in Commerce with other Debtors/ grantees, corporations, and artificial persons. The DEBTOR / grantee is a Legal Entity according to the Uniform Commercial Code.

UCC 9-105 (1)(n) "'Transmitting utility' means any person primarily engaged in ... the transmission of goods(1) by pipeline(2) ..."

1.) 9-105 (1)(h) "'Goods' also includes ... the unborn young of animals (humans), and growing crops."

2.) "Pipeline, n. 1. A direct channel by which information is privately transmitted..." (American Heritage Dictionary - 1993) Transmit. To send or transfer from one person or place to another, or to communicate. State v. Robbins, 253 N.C. 47, 116 S.E.2d 192, 193. (Black's Law Dictionary 6th Edition.) Utility. In patent law, a patent applicant must demonstrate that his invention performs some function that is of benefit to society. This utility requirement is in addition to the requirements of non-obviousness and novelty.

With the Birth Certificate of the DEBTOR / grantee being registered in international commerce and having bonds sold on it, the DEBTOR / grantee became the surety on the bonds, or the "pledge." The asset bonded (surety) is the "energy" or the labor of the DEBTOR. Thus the DEBTOR / grantee became the "utility" for the "transmission" of energy, designating the debtor as a TRANSMITTING UTILITY, an individual utility transmitting public and private debt.

DEBTOR / grantee is not claiming to be a public utility.
